- Does someone you love or care about have an addiction or substance abuse problem?
- Are you stressed because of your loved one's addiction problems?
- Are you lost, confused and do not know what to do or where to turn for help?

This group will:

- Help you understand Substance Use Disorders and the recovery process
- Teach you how to help your loved one and take care of self
- Provide emotional support for those trying to cope with an addicted loved one
- Offer resources and access treatment

No registration required. Meetings are free, anonymous and led by a licensed Substance Use Counselor.
